

Protests Bring Threat of Gas Rate Increase

By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission today warned that protests against Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.'s minimum bill increase could lead to a further rate increase.

Ray Thornton, attorney for the company, said Arkla would expect a rate increase if a proposed study shows its earnings are low just as it would expect to have rates cut if earnings proved to be high.

Chairman Lewis Robinson and other PSC members agreed that such an increase was a possibility. Conway, Benton, Pine Bluff, and England today joined Mineral Springs and El Dorado in protesting Arkla's recent increase of its minimum charge from $1.10 to $1.80 a month.

George Holmes, Pine Bluff city attorney, said Pine Bluff, El Dorado, North Little Rock and Norphlet already had agreed to help pay for an analysis of Arkla's rate structure.

"We are negotiating with other cities which may want help in this," Holmes said.

"We've been in contact with rate experts and we expect to hire one within a week."

The Commission continued the case indefinitely, but Robinson said a new date would be set as soon as the cities announce they are ready to introduce rate testimony.

Thornton said Arkla is ready to undergo "a complete rate examination by any competent expert."

"He said Arkla's rate of return during the latest test year was 4.57 per cent, well under the 6 per cent rate usually permitted utilities."

"You realize this may result in a rate increase in your particular city," Commissioner John R. Thompson told Holmes.

There was then some discussion about whether protesting cities could be taken out of Arkla's statewide rate structure and the proposed investigation confined to them.

It was finally agreed that the study would be conducted on a statewide scale even though Robinson commented that "it doesn't seem right that cities which have not protested this increase should run the risk of a further increase."

Operation . . . Spring Time . . .

THIS IS A PICTURE OF TWO NEW spring-time Brown Thrashers in their nest at the left-hand hedge marking the entrance to the Louisiana-Nevada Transit Co. plant just off Highway 29 on the south side of Hope.

Picture was made Thursday afternoon under the greatest of difficulties. Although the nest was accessible as far as height was concerned, about shoulder high, it was situated deep in the heart of the hedge. One of the office girls accompanied the editor and she held the hedge apart while the editor shot the picture from a distance of 2 feet. But the Star delegation needed a third party to dangle a worm over the chicks' heads. They kept burying their heads in the nest — while Mama and Papa Brown Thrasher dive-bombed the photographic party.

Mrs. Evelyn L. Eppler, local manager for Louisiana-Nevada, had tipped The Star off to the bird-nest, saying there were four young birds. But when the photographer got there an hour later the nest had only two. The editor returned to the scene this morning for a second try — but the nest was empty. We got the word a little late . . . as the picture shows, the young birds were fully feathered; and overnight they got orders from papa and mama to beat it . . . but quick!

Case of Hope vs That Dallas Judge

The Dallas Judge is W. E. Richburg, who several weeks ago, wise-cracked in his court about the fair city of Hope, the remark being published in The Dallas News and later drew the ire of several Hope citizens.

R. C. Daniels then decided to invite the Dallas Judge to Hope for an appearance before a joint meeting of the Hope Lions and Kiwanis Clubs on May 8. Since then a number of pranks have been planned, including a "mock trial" before a battery of Hope attorneys at the luncheon meeting at Hotel Barlow.

But it's all in fun — and a good time is promised for all — including Judge Richburg of Dallas, who, it is now rumored, is planning on bringing along Perry Mason his secretary Della Street and Paul Drake his investigator — a combination that has never been known to lose a court case.

Electricians to Cost U.S. Millions More

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators charged today that arbitrary rules of an electricians' union threaten to add $3 million to the cost of the Titan missile program.

Defense plans call for 12 squadrons of the intercontinental missiles.

Jerome S. Adelman, counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, claimed evidence that unionized electricians' refusal to permit the use of prefabricated electrical cable connections in the missile would add "a quarter of a million dollars per squadron to the cost, or a total of around $3 million."

The subcommittee chairman, John L. McClellan, D-Ark., demanding new federal laws to curb the rash of strikes and other labor troubles plaguing missile bases, called more witnesses for questioning on this and other matters.

"Where is America's patriotism?" he exploded Thursday after hearing testimony of strikes allegedly called to throw projects behind schedule and force payment of overtime wages to laborers at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in a drive to meet project dates.

Robert Palmer, pictured as the top labor official at the base, denied heatedly that any strikes have been called there to force the payment of overtime.

VERSATILE NAVY WIFE

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Rhine has been a matron in a home for orphaned children, a life-guard, a coach, a wife and mother of five, and now a fuel oil truck driver. She is still a wife but she finds the delivery of fuel oil a help when her Navy husband is at sea. And she frequently takes one or more of the kids with her in making deliveries.

TEACHING SPEECH

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Genevieve Dickinson, who has coached eight state public speaking champions, says she doesn't teach speech. "I teach Mary and Johnny," she said. "I don't teach speech to Mary and Johnny."

Mrs. Dickinson says speech is a tool subject like grammar or writing. She does a "selling job" to make children like and understand the value of the class to them. They learn to speak — something she believes of tremendous importance in an age when voices can circle the world in seconds.

Cuba Thinks U.S. Planning an Attack

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuba today accused the United States of planning to hurl a military attack at her at any moment, but said she is willing to discuss mutual problems with the United States through regular diplomatic channels.

The Cuban radio in a broadcast monitored at Key West said President Osvaldo Dorticos read the accusation and the peace overture, signed by himself and the Prime Minister Fidel Castro, to Latin American diplomats whom Dorticos called to the presidential palace.

Dorticos asked the diplomats to relay his words to their respective governments.

He said the United States is making final plans to attack Cuba at any moment with military force in an attempt to overthrow the Castro regime.

If this happens, Dorticos said, Cuba's people will resist to the last drop of blood.

But, said Dorticos in the statement, the Cuban government is in a position to initiate conversations with the United States through diplomatic channels, with a view toward peaceful solutions of problems.

After those, he said, it might be possible to resume diplomatic relations.

Mother of Year Can't Attend Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state chairman of the American Mothers Committee says Arkansas mothers of the year may not attend the national conference because the Publicity and Parks Commission has decided not to pay the $500 expenses.

The mother of the year, Mrs. Ben A. Lincoln of Little Rock, was scheduled to attend the American Mothers Award Week in New York next week. Mrs. Tullie Wyrick of Magnolia, state chairman of the committee, said she should not have to pay her own way.

Clovis Copeland, associated director of the commission, said the commission had decided not to foot the bill because the contest is limited in scope, not a true state contest.

"The commission has always demonstrated that it is for motherhood and against sin," Copeland said, "but it felt that the contest was too limited in scope to deserve state money. If they held a statewide contest and let everybody enter that wanted to, I think the commission would look at it with more favor."

Copeland said the request for money might come up at the commission's meeting Saturday.

State Rep. Harry B. Colay of Columbia County said he considered the commission's attitude "an insult to the legislature."

Colay said he co-authored a resolution passed by the 1961 legislature requesting the commission to grant $500 each year to support the Mother of the Year promotion.

Colay said the commission sent him a letter saying the request had been rejected. He said he was thinking of asking the Legislative Council to look into the rejection.

Mercury Test Prelude to Man Going Up

By VERN HAUGHLAND

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP)—The Mercury space capsule underwent its final and most severe unmanned test today with this verdict: A man aboard unquestionably could have survived.

Next week an American astronaut at Cape Canaveral, Fla., will stake his life on that finding.

Little Joe VII, a cluster of eight solid propellant rockets, leaped up from this test station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at 9:04 a.m. with the 3,000-pound space chamber on its nose.

Half an hour later, after a flight that produced stresses even more violent than the extreme conditions that had been planned, the capsule was back on the beach after a parachute-cushioned landing in the sea and fast recovery by a helicopter.

Meanwhile, the vehicle had been blasted loose from the booster by rocket devices intended to save a space flier in case of trouble in the liftoff.

Asked if a man could have lived through it, project manager William Bland replied: "Unquestionably."

The aim was to determine whether the equipment would work under the most punishing conditions an astronaut might encounter.

Next comes the real test—probably next Tuesday—at Cape Canaveral, with a man aboard for a longer ride.

The space chamber with two ballast-filled dummies aboard, rode on the vehicle's nose.

In 30 seconds the rocket lifted the 3,000-pound capsule to about 35,000 feet, where a timing device triggered the escape sequence.

The vehicle at that moment was traveling at about 1,200 miles an hour.

Later when a capsule is launched by a more powerful Redstone or Atlas rocket, it will attain much greater speeds but at much higher altitudes where air resistance and the pull of gravity will be greatly reduced and thereby produce no more stress.

At Little Joe's peak altitude of about 40,000 feet, an escape rocket on a tower 12 feet above the capsule ignited and pulled the spacecraft away from the rocket.

Then a small parachute opened to stabilize the capsule, after which a large chute blossomed out and lowered the capsule into the water about five minutes after the launching. A helicopter quickly picked it up.

The sequence was visible from the launch site under bright sunny skies.

Even before the recovery an official reported the operation had gone off under conditions a man apparently could have survived.

The missile took off at an 80-degree angle and arched for 30 seconds through the clear blue sky before the engines burned out.

Today's test by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration designed to subject the Mercury space capsule to the most severe stresses and pressures that could occur on liftoff.

The moment of peak stress in today's shot occurred between the altitudes of 35,000 and 45,000 feet, when the air pressure at the nose of the vehicle rises to 40 times the force produced by a 100-mile-an-hour hurricane.

The capsule was the same one launched by Little Joe VI on March 18 and recovered 20 miles offshore, slightly damaged. In that shot the Mercury escape rocket fired prematurely and caused a faulty sequence of separation.

The damage resulting from that shot was repaired and the capsule was in a new condition when launched today.

Department Store Sales Dip Some

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis announced today that department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District the week ending April 22 were four per cent under those of the similar week last year.

The Little Rock area showed the only gain, four per cent. Louisville and Memphis both fell five per cent. St. Louis was down three per cent and sales in seven smaller district cities dropped 12 per cent.

Sales for the four weeks ending April 22 were 63 per cent under those of the comparable period of last year and sales to date were one per cent below 1960.

U.S. Spurns Castro's Suggestion That Two Countries Negotiate

U.S. Near End of Patience With Communist Stalling Over Cease-Fire in Laos

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was reported near the end of its patience today with what officials privately call Communist stalling over a cease-fire in Laos.

President Kennedy has initiated consultations with allied governments and with congressional leaders on what steps may be taken next to prevent more of Laos from falling to Soviet-backed rebel forces.

New action could include U.S. and allied military intervention aimed at halting the rebel offensive. But informed officials said that Kennedy had not decided finally on his next move.

A State Department statement Thursday night declared "real United States concern over the failure of the Pathet Lao rebel forces" to accept a British-Soviet cease-fire call issued last week.

Behind this concern was a growing anxiety that the rebel offensive could shortly result in the capture of the royal capital, Luang Prabang, and the administrative capital, Vientiane.

Should rebel successes bring the collapse of the pro-Western Bao Dai government, the ability of the Western powers to deal with the Communist challenge in the Southeast Asian kingdom would be almost disastrously crippled.

Beyond the immediate threat to Laos, Kennedy administration leaders fear, is a broader threat to South Viet Nam and Thailand. The United States recently gave both countries new assurances of military support as events may require.

In Laos, there was no indication that the Pathet Lao would call off the shooting at noon today. The royal government set that hour for the halt in fighting to become effective.

Before leaving Washington on a speech making trip Kennedy conferred Thursday with congressional leaders. He told them, it was learned, that the situation for pro-Western forces in Laos was deteriorating and that further moves have to be considered for pro-Western forces in Laos was deteriorating and that further moves have to be considered seriously.

Following this meeting, the State Department issued a statement which said: "Today's discussions have revolved around the question of what the approach of the United States and other nations interested in maintaining the integrity of an independent Laos is to be should the Communist rebels prove completely unwilling to grant a cease-fire and work toward a peaceful solution."

The President also had a session Thursday with the National Security Council.

The cease-fire call was part of a package deal negotiated by Britain and the Soviet Union. Another part of the agreement called for a 14-nation conference to open May 12 at Geneva for the purpose of working out a permanent Laotian settlement. Officials indicated that if the cease-fire was not accepted in fact as well as in theory by the Communist side the United States had no intention of going to the conference.

State Department press officer Lincoln White declined to discuss the question of a "cutoff point" for U.S. patience in waiting for the rebel forces, which now hold much of northern Laos, to agree to end the fighting. However, authorities said the Kennedy administration was not willing to wait very much longer.

Communism Is Not Negotiable America Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, spurning a suggestion from the Castro regime for U.S.-Cuban negotiations, declared today that "communism is not negotiable."

A State Department spokesman pointedly reminded newsmen that President Kennedy had said the American people "are not concerned about Iron Curtain tanks and planes less than 90 miles from our shores."

The Cuban problem, press officer Lincoln White asserted, is a problem among many nations, not between Washington and Havana alone.

Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos told diplomats at the presidential palace in Havana today that Cuba was willing to discuss its problems with the American government and "even to reopen diplomatic relations."

The chief of the regime controlled by Prime Minister Fidel Castro also said the United States States was preparing to launch a military attack, and that Cuban people would defend themselves.

On this point, White declared Castro also said the United States was preparing to launch a military attack, and that the Cuban people would defend themselves.

On this point, White declared that U.S. naval vessels "are in the Caribbean on routine maneuvers."

He added: "The report of a planned invasion of Cuba is completely without foundation. This is nothing more than cheap propaganda."

Charged With Rigging the Stock Market

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charges that two prominent members of The American Stock Exchange Market engaged in illegal stock sales approaching $10 million were to be detailed today by federal investigators.

Lawyers for the Securities and Exchange Commission, after completing a year-long investigation of exchange members Jerry and Gerard Res, were ready to sum up the findings in a bulky legal brief.

The Res, exchange specialists who control the daily market auctions in about 20 stocks, also were to file a brief in their own behalf through attorney Milton Gould.

By agreement, the Res have waived the right to contest the charges. However, they have reserved the right to argue that any violations were not willful.

The investigation of the Res, father and son, was one of the most far-reaching in the history of the SEC. It was the first to involve market specialists—the key technicians who operate at the heart of every stock exchange.

Pending a decision by the full commission, the exchange has suspended the Res from membership. The exchange is the second largest in New York City and the nation, doing an annual business of about $4 billion.

According to the SEC investigators, the Res firm peddled millions of dollars worth of stock in nine corporations between 1954 and 1960. The investigators said most of the shares were sold at single prices in rigged markets on the floor of the exchange.

Wants Vote on Car Regulation Law
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Fort Smith auto dealer, Hoyle White, is heading a campaign to get the 1961 legislature's auto sales regulation law referred to Arkansas voters.

The attorney general's office Thursday approved the form of the petitions White said will be circulated. White and his associates have until midnight, June 7, to get at least 25,319 signatures. This would put the act on the 1962 general election ballot and prevent its going into effect before then.

The act creates a seven-member commission with broad regulatory powers and requires licensing of motor vehicle dealers, salesmen, manufacturers, distributors and factory representatives.

The 1957 and 1959 legislatures established similar commissions, but the acts that set them up were ruled invalid in court tests.

Bids Taken on School Bonds

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Little Rock and Memphis firms combined to present a high bid of 2.825 per cent interest on $2,550,000 worth of school building bonds, the Fort Smith School Board announced Thursday.

The contract for delivery of the bonds was signed at a special school board meeting by the Stephens and Raney investment companies of Little Rock and the First National Bank of Memphis. Voters approved the bonds last December. The bond issue includes $1.25 million for a new junior-senior high school.

McKinley Out as Little Rock Postmaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., was notified today that the Post Office department had turned down—at least temporarily—his choice for acting postmaster at Little Rock—and Alford promptly took the House floor to protest.

"My patience has been sapped and I am sick at heart over the strange gyrations taking place under the administration now in power," Alford said.

"I rise...to warn my colleagues...especially my Democratic colleagues — and to serve notice on them of what they may expect in their dealings with this administration."

Alford's outburst came after he was notified by Postmaster General J. Edward Day that segregationist Ed I. McKinley Jr., recommended by Alford, would not be permitted to take over as acting postmaster at Little Rock on April 30.

Day said "we do not plan to install an acting postmaster at Little Rock on April 30, 1961, in view of the large number of serious complaints raised about Mr. McKinley's community acceptability."

The complaints, Day said, are being investigated. Day had announced several weeks ago that "serious complaints" had been made and that an investigation would be made.

Alford told the House we had made the strongest possible recommendation of an outstanding man for acting postmaster but "alas, I reckoned without the strange power wielded upon this administration by a small minority."

The complaints against McKinley, Alford told the House, came from a "small minority group in Little Rock who opposed the man I recommended merely because he dared to stand up and be counted in the fight against the highly illegal and unconstitutional ruling of the United States Supreme Court in the matter of school desegregation."

Daylight Savings Starts Sunday
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
About half the nation's population will lend an hour to Father Time this weekend. The hour will be repaid in kind next fall, no interest, but nothing lost either.

Daylight Saving Time—a means of increasing the number of daylight hours—goes into effect at 2 a.m. this Sunday throughout 17 states and the District of Columbia.

In 11 states, the measure goes into effect only in some areas. All of the communities in the remaining 21 states will stay on Standard Time through the summer.

In this age of shrunken distances, it will be difficult for anyone to remain unaffected by the change, even if his own community remains on standard time.

If you are a resident of such an area, you won't have to bother setting your clock ahead one hour this Sunday, but you'll find that many of your television programs will be going on the air an hour early.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband and Wife at Odds on Fishing

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I don't like to come between man and wife, especially when there are three children, but this couple, though under the same roof, haven't lived together for your years and as a result he is under a doctor's care because of nervous tension.

He has a good job, is nice looking, likeable and always doing for others. His family wants for nothing. But here he is, a man in need of love, who's drawn a blank. Wouldn't it be better for him to call it quits before his health gives out? I'm a married woman with children of my own and normally against a family breaking up. Advise this poor man through your column before it's too late. —Sis

Dear Sis: A problem intimate as this can only be settled by the principals. One or the other should either take the initiative, resume marital relations, or get out.

Dear Helen: I am a 17-year-old high school junior. Never having had anyone to whom I could direct my problems, I turn to you. I've been dating a senior and know he loves me. I like him but not to the extent that he is "the only one" for me. I have tried breaking off but he gets so upset and stirs my sympathies so much that we continue dating. He is a grand person, respected and liked, but I find myself dreading the future. I only pray that the best for everyone will come with your answers. —Admiring Reader

Dear Admiring Reader: The longer you postpone the break, the more you hurt the boy. Tell him if he can settle for friendship, okay. If not, it's goodbye.

Dear Helen: I find you very open-minded, hence this letter. I feel like an idiot every time I enter a store because of my accent. Six years ago I came to this country from Berlin, Germany, married a wonderful American and am now an American citizen.

My husband's family loves me and my friends and neighbors couldn't be nicer. They understand my English but store clerks don't. Yesterday I went to purchase silk for a dress. That ordeal over, I asked the clerk for something to make the summer-humid. She showed me cotton cloth. When I said it wouldn't be suitable, she walked off. When I asked her again to wait on me she said, "Pny for that other material."

I paid and came home in tears. How can we improve foreign relations with other countries when people from those countries are treated like idiots here? —Accent

Dear Accent: I had a similar experience two years ago in Bonn, Germany, only I didn't go back to my hotel in tears. Laughable though my German was, the majority of German people, with the exception of that snip of a sales clerk, were kindness itself. And so it is the world over. Be philosophical, keep your sense of humor, ignore the rude, remember the kind.

Send four problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets are available. Write for "Praise or Blame."

Cage Scandals Spread, More May Be Named

By DON WEISS

NEW YORK (AP)—The cloud of a widespread bribery scandal that had hung ominously over has descended, engulfing 10 more players from six more schools.

There were strong indications today that more disclosing and possible indictments resulting from point shaving and game fixing were due from the district attorney's office.

"The term of the grand jury investigating college basketball has been extended until June 30," Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said after announcing a 37-count indictment for corruption against previously convicted football fixer Aaron Wagman of New York.

The indictment, confirming earlier reports that the scandal might mushroom to equal or top the size of the one that jolted the game in 1951, named 10 players from colleges in the East and South and cited 23 games played in 13 cities. One player was named as one of four co-conspirators.

Combined with previous disclosures, it brought the count of the current scandal to 12 players from seven schools. The 1951 scandal involved 33 players from seven schools. Hogan also conducted the investigation then.

The players named Thursday were:

Jack Egan, high-scoring ace of St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, which finished third in the National Collegiate Tournament last month, and two teammates—Vince Kempton of Cambria Heights, N. Y., and Frank Majewski of Jersey City, N. J.

Egan, who said he "needed the money," is married and the father of two children. He lives in Bethlehem, Pa., and Thursday night was to have been honored at a banquet at St. Joseph's outstanding athlete. The banquet went on without him.

Ed Bowler, sophomore at LaSalle College in Philadelphia, from Jersey City.

Jerry Graves, All-Southeastern conference star at Mississippi State, from Jackson, Tenn.

Dick Fisher, senior, Memphis, and Ed Test, senior, Chattanooga, both of the University of Tennessee.

Pete Kelly, senior, Orlando, Fla., and Glenn Cross, senior, Williamamie, Conn., both of the University of Connecticut.

Lou Brown, senior, Jersey City, of North Carolina.

All but Brown were granted immunity from prosecution for their testimony, Hogan said, adding that each allegedly accepted or agreed to accept from Wagman sums ranging from $750 to $1,500 for shaving points in games. The games included one during the 1959-60 season and 25 this past season. Of the 26, Hogan said 12 were "successfully" rigged.

Brown, who played in only two or three games near the end of the season after having been a first-line reserve with the Tar Heels in 1959-60, was not successful, Hogan said, in making such arrangements at North Carolina.

"Brown made efforts to line things up for Wagman at North Carolina," said Hogan, "but he (Brown) was more successful at luring players at St. Joseph's and LaSalle."

As a result, Brown was named a co-conspirator along with Bill Mennassio of White Plains, N. Y., ace halfback of the Connecticut football team; Jerry Vogel of the Bronx, N. Y., and Dan Quindazzi of Yonkers, N. Y., both former Alabama basketball players, and Joseph Green of New York, described as a close associate of Wagman. Green has disappeared and is wanted for questioning.

According to Hogan, all four allegedly were contact men with basketball players—visiting various campuses to make arrangements.

Of the 10 basketball players named, five have been expelled by their schools. So has Minnerly Bowler has been suspended. Graves was graduated at mid-term. Fisher and Test did not re-enter Tennessee for the spring quarter, and Brown last month withdrew from school.

Caracas, Venezuela, is a modern city of 1,200,000 people.

Pedestrian deaths account for more than half of all motor vehicle accident fatalities among children up to 14.

Mantle Again Bats Yankees to Victory

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Hall, a right-hander acquired from Kansas City along with utilityman Dick Williams, pitched a two-hit, 5-0 victory over Washington for the Baltimore Orioles Thursday night. Early Wynn gained his 28th career victory and Minnie Minoso drove in five runs as the Chicago White Sox rapped Kansas City 9-1 in the only other night game.

In the other AL games, Minnesota regained first place by routing the Los Angeles Angels' home debut 4-2. Detroit skidded to second with a 5-2 defeat by the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees beat Cleveland 4-3.

Chicago's Cubs whipped Cincinnati 5-2 in the lone National League game scheduled.

The only hits Hall allowed the Senators were singles—one in the fourth inning by Danny O'Connell and the other with two hits in the ninth by pinch-hitter Joe Hicks.

The Orioles were shut out on two hits by rookie Joe McClain until the seventh. Then Brooks Robinson doubled and scored on Russ Snyder's sacrifice fly after two walks—the first allowed by McClain (2-1) in 23 2-3 innings. Consecutive singles by Williams, Whitey Herzog and Robinson then got the Birds started on a four-run spurt in the eighth.

The White Sox staked Wynn, now 2-0 to a quick lead against Loser Bud Daley (1-3) with three runs in the first. Minoso drove in the last two with a double, then singled home two more in the third inning.

A three-run homer by Earl Batley brought the Twins from behind in the sixth against the Angels, who now have lost eight in a row. Camilo Pascual (2-0) was the winner. Eli Grba, who nailed the Angels' lone victory in the season opener, lost his second.

Vic Wertz drove in three runs for the Red Sox and paired with Russ Nixon for two-run homers off Jim Bunning (0-2). Dave Hill-

Coaches Not Satisfied With Showing

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

If Coach Frank Broyles had to play a Southwest Conference football game tomorrow (which he doesn't), he knows which 11 men he would start.

If he had to mold three complete units in the next two weeks (which he does), he would be a little more hesitant about saying who would play where.

As his Arkansas Razorbacks reached the midway point in spring practice Thursday, Broyles released to newsmen what he called his "first team, so far."

It included 11 lettermen, and it placed Billy Joe Moody at offensive fullback and defensive line-backer.

Moody has been playing at offensive guard during most of spring training, but was moved back to fullback this week. This leaves Moody, Mickey Cissell, Jim Worthington and Jessie Branch at that position.

Broyles is working to develop three teams, as he played last year, and specifically two interchangeable units. At some positions, like right guard, he is in good shape. There he has lettermen Dean Garrett, Ray Trull and Charley Moore.

At other spots, like left tackle, the lineup is a little uncertain. Behind letterman Jerry Mazzanti, Broyles has squadman Ronnie Blakely and sophomores Wesley Bryant and Bill Scott.
